Goal of this E-Book?

We intend to inform you about the 10 things that you should not, cannot, miss on your visit to the Douro Valley, and so plan your stay not to miss a single one, returning home with a mission accomplished spirit.

#1 - São Leonardo da Galafura Viewpoint

Viewpoint located at Galafura, in Peso da Régua, is one of the most privileged views of the Douro Valley.

The writer Miguel Torga was passionate about this place, so much so that he even wrote a poem in his honor, entitled “São Leonardo da Galafura”.

Miguel Torga referred to the Douro valley as an “excess of nature”.

#2 - Nacional Road 222

The National Road N° 222, in its section from Peso da Régua to Pinhão, runs along the left bank of the Douro River.

Driving not far from the water plane, we can see terraced vineyards, small towns, the Douro train line across the river, and rabelo boats gliding smoothly through the waters.

This road was already elected in 2015 as the best and most beautiful road in the world to drive.

#3 - Visit and wine Tasting at Quinta do Panascal

In 1992, Quinta do Panascal was one of the first properties in the Douro to open its doors to visitors.

This wine farm offers a very interesting and educational visit in an audio-tour system, which allows visitors to have direct contact with the vineyard located in the Tavora valley, the entrance to the secular “lagar” of the farm, and also enjoy a paradisiacal setting.

#4 - São Salvador do Mundo Viewpoint

Located in the parish of São João da Pesqueira, you can see in the background the Valeira Dam and the historic Cachão da Valeira, sadly famous for being the place where Barão de Forrester drowned.

Considered the largest sanctuary in the Alto Douro Wine Region, it consists of a series of small chapels that rise along the hill, dating back to the 16th century.

#5 - Pinhão Bridge

This bridge by architect Gustave Eiffel was completed in 1906.

Made up of a metal tray with three independent spans with 68.7 m, and a total length of 206 meters.

The three pillars of the bridge are located on the riverbed and have total heights of about 20.0 m.

At km 125 of the Douro River, it has always been a very important route of passage between the banks of the Douro River. The next crossings, upstream or downstream, are 20 kilometers away.

#6 - Pinhão-Tua-Pinhão rabelo boat tour

Two-hour rabelo boat tour, departing and arriving at the Magnifico Douro pier in Pinhão.

You can see vineyards, terraces until the river, and wineries, constituting a unique landscape, considered World Heritage by UNESCO.

This section of the river is not visible from national roads.

Available on your mobile phone, a free audio guide in Portuguese, Spanish, French, English and German is provided.

#8 - Pinhão Train Station

It is the most beautiful train station in the Douro.

Built during the 19th century, known for its tiles representing the production of Port wine, from the grape harvest, the stomping of the grapes to the transportation of the wine in rabelo boats downstream to the cellars in Vila Nova de Gaia.

The train arrived in Pinhão in 1880. In 1937 the station received the famous tile panels.
